

HIV Prevention

This program is presented by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention.

Get tested for HIV. If you are sexually active, use condoms consistently and correctly to protect yourself and your partners. If you are a person living with HIV, get and stay in treatment, and take the necessary steps to prevent HIV transmission to your partners. You can learn more at www.actagainstaids.org.

We can end this crisis. And we must remember that HIV is completely preventable. By working together, we can put an end to this epidemic in our lifetimes.

For the most accurate health information, visit www.cdc.gov or call 1-800-CDC-INFO.